

Dear Guest/Future Guest,

We understand there is concern about the recent volcanic activity occurring on Hawaii Island. Let us assure you that Hawaii continues to be a safe destination for visitors and only a small remote area on one of the Islands is currently being affected. Please see below for additional information that was issued recently by the Hawaii Tourism Authority:

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

- There is absolutely no reason at this time for travelers to change or alter their leisure or business plans.
- All of the Hawaiian Islands are unaffected by Kilauea volcano except a remote area on the island of Hawaii's east side. Out of the island's 4,028 square miles, only less than a 10-square-mile area of Leilani Estates and Lanipuna Gardens Subdivisions in Puna is affected.
- Air Access: All flights into the Ellison Onizuka Kona International Airport at Keahole - KOA (west) and Hilo International Airport - ITO (east) are operating normally.
- Accommodations and Activities: All accommodations, activities and attractions on the island are also operating normally, with the exception of those in the area affected by the lava activity.
- Air Quality: The clean and safe air quality on the island of Hawaii remains largely unchanged with this situation. However, air quality near where the lava is flowing can be hazardous (SO₂-sulfur dioxide), which is why officials are keeping people out of the affected areas and continuing to monitor air quality.

For the latest updates on this event please visit The Hawaii Tourism Authority "Special Alerts" page here.

The safety and wellbeing of our guests is very important to us. Should you have any questions, please let us know.

With warmest aloha.